

This Most Joyous Day

When man and woman together sing
that old and precious song;
when his heart hums that special tune
and her heart sings along;
night soon fades and shadows cease:
love's melody plays on.

As two candles brighter glow, two hearts entwined shall also grow into the strongest love of all;
bright beyond their own small world: 'til in such brilliance we all can see God's priceless gift of eternity.

Today, on this most joyous day,
two bright hearts have lit our way;
and upon their path of shining love we now find another Light: One Who illuminates both heart and mind.

In God's great love our hearts can sing a most holy ancient song; and filled with heaven's peace and joy
we bow our heads to pray:
"May God our Father in Jesus Christ
bless these most sacred marriage vows, and refresh them each new day."
